PART VI

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly; Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly; and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

NOTIFICATION.

New Delhi, the 16th October 1941.

No. F. 112-II/41-A.—Under rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules, the Governor-General has been pleased to order the publication in the Gazette of India of the following Bill,* together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons relating thereto, and the Bill and Statements of Objects and Reasons are accordingly published for general information:—

L. A. BILL No. 27 OF 1941.

A Bill further to amend the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, for the purposes hereinafter appearing; XV of 1940.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Excess Profits Tax (Second Amendment) Act, 1941.

*The Governor General has been pleased to give the previous sanction required by section 67(2) of the Government of India Act, as saved from repeal by paragraph 12 of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936, and the previous sanction required by section 141(1) of the Government of India Act, 1935, to the introduction in the Legislative Assembly of this Bill.

Amendment of section 4, Act XV of 1940.

2. In sub-section (2) of section 4 of the Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), for the words beginning with "and as if the excess of profits" and ending with "the whole chargeable accounting period" the following shall be substituted, namely:— XV of 1940.

"and as if the excess of profits of that separate chargeable accounting period were an apportioned part of the excess of profits arising in the whole period determined in accordance with the provisions of section 7A".

Amendment of section 5, Act XV of 1940.

3. In section 5 of the said Act, after the second proviso the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided further that this Act shall not apply to any business the whole of the profits of which accrue or arise in an Indian State; and where the profits of a part of a business accrue or arise in an Indian State, such part shall, for the purposes of this provision, be deemed to be a separate business the whole of the profits of which accrue or arise in an Indian State, and the other part of the business shall, for all the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a separate business."

Insertion of new section 7A in Act XV of 1940.

4. After section 7 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Special provision for chargeable accounting period falling partly before and partly after the end of March, 1941.

'7A. (1) In the case of a chargeable accounting period such as is referred to in sub-section (2) of section 4, the excess of profits of each of the separate chargeable accounting periods into which the whole chargeable period is deemed to be divided for the purposes of that sub-section, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of sub-sections (2), (3) and (4), and in those sub-sections—

(a) references to the whole period, the first part of the period, and the second part of the period shall be construed, respectively, as references to the whole of the chargeable accounting period deemed to be divided, so much thereof as falls before the end of March, 1941, and so much thereof as falls after the said end of March;

(b) "excess profits" means the amount by which the profits for any period exceed the standard profits for that period.

(2) The profits or loss of, and the standard profits for, the whole period shall be computed first on the basis that rule 5A of the First Schedule and rule 2A of the Second Schedule do not apply to the period, and secondly on the basis that the said rules do apply to the period, and it shall then be ascertained, on each basis, whether there are excess profits or a deficiency of profits for the whole period, and, if so, what is the amount thereof.

(3) There shall be deemed to be for the first part of the period excess profits or a deficiency of profits, as the case may be, equal to an apportioned part of the excess profits or deficiency of profits ascertained under sub-section (2) on the first basis mentioned therein, and there shall be deemed to be for the second part of the period excess profits or a deficiency of profits, as the case may be, equal to an apportioned part of the excess profits or deficiency of profits ascertained under sub-section (2) on the second basis mentioned therein; and, for the purpose of giving relief for deficiencies of profits under section 7, the first part of the period and the second part of the period shall each be treated as if it were a separate chargeable accounting period.

(4) Any apportionment required to be made by sub-section (3) shall be made by reference to the number of months and fractions of months in each of the parts of the whole period.'

Insertion of new section 10A in Act XV of 1940.

5. After section 10 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Transactions designed to avoid or reduce liability to excess profits tax.

"10A. (1) Where the Excess Profits Tax Officer is of opinion that the purpose, or one of the purposes, for which any transaction or transactions was or were effected [whether before or after the passing of the Excess Profits Tax (Second Amendment) Act, 1941] was the avoidance or reduction of liability to excess profits tax, he may, with the previous approval of the Inspecting Assistant Commissioner, make such adjustments as respects liability to excess profits tax as he considers appropriate so as to counteract the avoidance or reduction of liability to excess profits tax which would otherwise be effected by the transaction or transactions.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the powers conferred by sub-section (1), the powers conferred thereby extend—

(a) to the charging with excess profits tax of persons who but for the adjustments would not be chargeable with any tax or would not be chargeable to the same extent;

(b) to the charging of a greater amount of tax than would be chargeable but for the adjustments.

(3) Any person aggrieved by a decision of the Excess Profits Tax Officer under this section may appeal in the prescribed time and manner to the Appellate Tribunal."

Amendment of section 26, Act XV of 1940.

6. In sub-section (3) of section 26 of the said Act, after clause (c) the following word and clause shall be inserted, namely:—

"or

(d) in the case of any business which includes the winning of any mineral (including mineral oil) the winning of which is of exceptional importance for the prosecution of the present war, an increase in the output of the mineral which was essential in the national interest and which has had the effect of shortening the period during which but for such increased wartime output the source of the mineral might have been expected to be exhausted;".

Amendment of Schedule I, Act XV of 1940.

7. In Schedule I to the said Act,—

(a) after rule 5 the following rule shall be inserted, namely:—

'5A. (1) In computing for any chargeable accounting period ending after the end of March, 1941, and in relation thereto for the standard period, if any, the profits of a business other than a business to which sub-rule (2) of rule 4 of this Schedule applies, or the profits of a part of a business other than a part of a business to which sub-rule (2A) of the said rule applies, no deduction shall be made in respect of interest on borrowed money or in respect of any other consideration given for the use of borrowed money:

Provided that, as respects any such chargeable accounting period which commences before the said end of March, the application of this rule shall be subject to the provisions of section 7A of this Act:

Provided further that this rule shall not apply to the computation of profits of any business for any chargeable accounting period the standard profits for which are ascertained by reference to the minimum amount specified in sub-section (4) of section 6 of this Act:

Provided further that where a direction has been given by a Board of Referees under sub-section (3) of section 6, or by the Central Board of Revenue under sub-section (1) of section 26 of this Act, that the standard profits shall be computed as if the profits during the standard period were such greater amount as it thinks just, such amount shall be increased by the amount of the interest on or other consideration for the borrowed money during the standard period.

(2) In this rule and in rule 2A of the Second Scheduled 'borrowed money' means borrowed money which, apart from the provisions of the said rule 2A, would have been deductible in computing capital.';

(b) after rule 11 the following rule shall be added, namely:—

"12. (b) in rule 6, for the words "second proviso" the words "second or third proviso" shall be substituted,

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The main object of this Bill is to meet the wide-spread objections to the discrimination, as regards the treatment of borrowed money as capital, between money borrowed from a person carrying on a bona fide banking business and money borrowed from any other person. Opportunity is taken at the same time to strengthen the provisions dealing with devices for avoiding or reducing liability to excess profits tax, to provide relief for the premature exhaustion of mineral deposits owing to the war-time requirements, and, following the Income-tax (Amendment) Bill, to provide for the exemption of businesses and of parts of businesses the profits of which accrue or arise in an Indian State.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2—amends sub-section (2) of section 4 of the Act which provides for the charge of tax proportionately at the rates of 50 per cent. and 66⅔ per cent. in the case of a chargeable accounting period falling partly before and partly after the end of March, 1941, the date at which the rate of tax was increased to 66⅔ per cent. The amendment is consequential upon clause 4 which deals with the computation of profits and capital in the case of such a chargeable accounting period.

Clause 3—brings liability to excess profits tax into line with liability to income-tax—as modified by the Income-tax (Amendment) Bill at present before the Legislative Assembly—by providing that where the whole of the profits of a business or the profits of a part of a business accrue or arise in an Indian State such business or part of a business shall not be subject to excess profits tax.

Clause 4—deals with chargeable accounting periods commencing before and ending after the end of March, 1941, in relation to the change of basis, effected by new rule 5A of the First Schedule and new rule 2A of the Second Schedule, in the treatment of borrowed money and the interest thereon. The method adopted is to compute the profits or loss and the standard profits for the whole chargeable accounting period on the old and on the new basis and to take the due proportion of each of the two results.

Example:—

Chargeable accounting period of 12 months ending 31st December, 1941—

	Rs.
On the old basis, excess profits for the year	= 12,000
On the new basis, i.e., adopting the new provisions as to treatment of borrowed money and interest, excess profits for the year	= 10,000

The assessment for the whole chargeable accounting period of one year would be—

	Rs.
¼ year to 31st March, 1941, at Rs. 12,000 = Rs. 3,000 at 50 per cent.	= 1,500
¾ year to 31st December, 1941, at Rs. 10,000 = Rs. 7,500 at 66 2/3 per cent. ..	= 5,000
Total E. P. T. chargeable ..	6,500

Clause 5.—Section 10 of the Act deals with fictitious or artificial transactions entered into for the purpose of reducing excess profits chargeable to tax, but it does not provide for cases where tax is avoided by transactions which are neither fictitious nor artificial. The present clause remedies this defect and covers any transaction which has for its purposes the avoidance of excess profits tax.

Clause 6.—There are business concerns engaged in the winning of oil or other minerals, which are of exceptional importance for the prosecution of the war, in which an increase of output is essential in the national interest, but such increase will bring about an earlier exhaustion of the source of the oil or mineral than would have occurred in the normal course. An increase in the standard profit is inappropriate to the varying circumstances of chargeable accounting periods and it is provided, therefore, that allowance may be made for this premature exhaustion in arriving at the profits of any chargeable accounting period.

Clause 7(a).—This clause should be read with clause 8. These clauses recognise not only what has been claimed to be an invidious distinction made by the existing rule 5 of the First Schedule to the Act between money borrowed from a person carrying on a bona fide banking business and other borrowed money, but also the fact that the borrower bears some risk in respect of any borrowed money. The clauses, therefore, as from the 1st April, 1941, treat all borrowed money as capital both as regards the standard period, if any, and as regards the chargeable accounting period, so that the comparison of average capital required by the Act is to include the borrowed money as well as the proprietor's capital so far as this capital is employed in the business, and they provide for the corresponding inclusion in profits of the interest, etc., payable in respect of the borrowed money. The effect of this clause may be illustrated by an example:

	Standard period.	Chargeable accounting period.
	Rs.	Rs.
Average capital	5,00,000	6,00,000
Average borrowed money	1,00,000	2,00,000
Profits for E. P. T. purposes on old basis	50,000	1,00,000
Interest payable	5,000	10,000
Liability on old basis—
Profits of chargeable accounting period		1,00,000
Standard Profits	50,000
Add 10 per cent. on increased capital (Rs. 1,00,000)	10,000	60,000
Excess profits ..		40,000
Liability on new basis—
Profits of chargeable accounting period	1,00,000
Add interest payable	10,000
		1,10,000
Profits of standard period	50,000
Add interest payable	5,000
	55,000
Add 10 per cent. on increased capital (Rs. 2,00,000) including borrowed money	20,000	75,000
Excess profits ..		35,000

Provision is made to secure that in the case of a business to which, for any chargeable accounting period, the minimum standard of Rs. 36,000 a year applies, or, in respect of which an award of a substituted standard of profits has been given under section 6(3) by a Board of Referees or under section 26(1) by the Central Board of Revenue, the new provisions shall not operate to deprive the assessee of the benefit that enures to him by reason of the minimum standard or of such award.

Clause 7(b).—This clause is designed to prevent the dissipation of excess profits by expenditure that has no relation to the requirements of the business, the major part of the cost of which might be met out of reduced taxation. In order, however, that this power of disallowance should not be exercised without the fullest consideration, it is provided that the authority of the Commissioner of Excess Profits Tax is to be a condition precedent to its exercise, and further the assessee is given the right of appeal to the Appellate Tribunal in the case of any disallowance under this provision.

Clause 8.—See note on clause 7(a) above.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The main objects of this Bill are threefold:—

(a) to make such changes in respect of the liability to tax of income arising in Indian States to residents in British India as will secure a satisfactory and equitable basis for reciprocal double income-tax relief arrangements with the States [clauses 8(b), 10(b) and 30];

(b) to grant certain concessions to the tax-payer, e.g., clauses 6 and 7 which deal with depreciation, and clause 13 which deals with the carry-forward of losses;

(c) to clarify the meaning of certain sections of the Act, e.g., clauses 9, 21, 25, 26 and 27.

Opportunity is taken at the same time to provide for the restoration of the Commissioner's powers of revision for which there is a widespread demand (clause 18), to curtail the concessions allowed by sub-sections (3) and (4) of section 25 (clause 14) and to remedy some minor defects and omissions which have come to notice in the working of the Act. The various clauses are explained in the notes below.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2.—This amendment is consequential on the substitution of the word "association" for the word "company" in Rule 9 of the Schedule by section 13 of the Indian Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1940 (40 of 1940).

Clause 3—(x).—This provision expands the exemptions shown as items 1 and 14 to 16B at pages 179 and 181 of the Income-tax Manual (Eighth Edition) and which were made by the Central Government in the exercise of its powers under section 60(1). The existing exemptions do not apply to official representatives of the Dominions or Foreign Governments than Consuls and Trade Commissioners. It is now proposed to confer exemption on such representatives and their staff on the basis of reciprocity.

A minor change in sub-clause (c) is the withdrawal of the existing exemption in the case of a subject of an Indian State.

Clause 3—(xi).—This clause proposes to confer with effect from the outbreak of the war an exemption on Nepalese and Indian State Forces which have come to British India at the request of the Central Government.

Clause 4.—Cases of hardship have come to notice in which individuals who come to reside in India for a period of years suffer through being treated as non-residents in the year of their arrival. A similar situation arises when a resident departs from India early in the financial year. The purpose of the clause is to treat such individuals as resident.

Clause 5.—This provision is designed to prevent the validity of the constitution of the Appellate Tribunal being questioned when on the occurrence of a vacancy there is an inequality in the numbers of judicial and accountant members.

Clause 6—(a).—The note on clause 13(a) may be referred to.

Clause 6—(b)—makes a radical alteration in the method of computing written-down value in the case of assets acquired before the previous year. At present in arriving at written-down value sums are deducted from original cost on account of depreciation although no such depreciation has been allowed in assessments. Under the proposed provision only depreciation actually allowed will be deducted.

Clause 7.—This clause provides for depreciation on buildings let on hire along with machinery, plant or furniture. The proposal is in accordance with the decisions of the Madras High Court reported in 2 I. T. C. 251 and of the Calcutta High Court reported in 1935 I. T. R 114.

Clause 8.—This clause and clauses 10(b) and 30 are designed to confer an exemption on income arising or accruing in an Indian State. Such income (unless received in or brought into British India or unless assessable under section 42) will be exempted both from income-tax and super-tax but it will be taken into account in calculating income-tax and super-tax.

The clause makes an important exception to the residence basis in the case of Indian States. It is designed with the intention of avoiding the loss that would arise through double income-tax relief if States adopted the residence basis.

Clause 9 clarifies the meaning of section 16(2) which is open to misinterpretation. If we take the case of a profit of one rupee on which four annas tax is paid leaving 12 annas which is paid out as dividend, what the sub-section is intended to secure is that the tax on one rupee shall be added to the dividend of 12 annas for the purpose of including the dividend in the share-holder's income. But the sub-section as it stands is open to the interpretation that it is the tax on 12 annas and not on one rupee that should be added The amendment makes the position clear

Clause 10—(a).—A minor amendment putting, for the purposes of the rate of tax, non-resident natives of tribal areas in the same category as non-resident British subjects and subjects of States in India and Burma.

Clause 10—(b).—Please see note on clause 8.

Clause 11.—This amendment is consequential on the amendment sought to be made by clause 9 It is not strictly correct to speak of the tax payable by a company in respect of a dividend. A company pays tax on its profits, not in respect of its dividends.

Clause 12.—This provision seeks to remedy a defect in the Act which does not provide for communication of the order in question to the firm. Such communication is necessary for appeal purposes. A corresponding amendment is sought to be made in section 30(2) by clause 15. The second proviso to section 30(1) may also be referred to.

Clause 13—(a).—Proviso (b) to section 10(2)(vi) deals with carry-forward of unabsorbed depreciation and section 24(2) deals with carry-forward of losses. As these provisions stand they are interpreted to mean that depreciation must be set off before losses. As a result cases would arise in which the assessee would be deprived of the benefits of section 24(2). The amendment proposes that losses shall be set off before depreciation. Please see also clause 6(a).

Clause 13—(d).—This provision seeks to amend the existing third proviso to section 24(2). This proviso should be read with the first proviso to section 26(1). The intention was that only the partners who suffered the loss should be allowed to have it set off. The first part of the amendment seeks to give effect to this intention. The last part merely repeats the existing proviso.

Clause 14 seeks to amend sub-sections (3) and (4) of section 25. The purpose of these sub-sections is to provide relief in cases where, but for their provisions, a business, profession or vocation would be assessed for one year more than the period of its existence. In the case of super-tax, however, only businesses, professions or vocations assessed to super-tax for the first time for the year 1920-21 or the year 1921-22 fall in that category. As regards companies, under the 1886 Act, unlike other assessees, they were not assessed in the first year of their existence. It is only companies assessed for the first time under the 1918 Act who, but for these provisions, would be assessed to income-tax for one year longer than the period of their existence. The amendments seek to withdraw the concessions in those two classes of cases to which the considerations on which the concessions were based do not apply.

Clause 15.—Please see note on clause 12.

Clause 16 seeks to amend section 31. As it stands, it is only in cases where the assessment on a firm or association is confirmed, reduced, enhanced or annulled that the Income-tax Officer can be authorised to amend accordingly the assessments of the partners or members. It is now proposed to delete the provision for consequential amendment of assessments in sub-section (3)(a) and add a general authorisation to amend the assessments of partners or members which will apply to the whole section.

Clause 17—(a) seeks to bring the wording of sub-section (1) of section 33 into line with the wording of the proposed sub-section (5) of section 31.

Clause 17—(b) seeks to make the time limit for filing an appeal the same for the Commissioner as it is for the assessee.

Clause 17—(c) seeks to give the power to the Tribunal [which the Appellate Assistant Commissioner is given by section 30(2)] to condone delay in filing an appeal.

Clause 18 seeks to restore the Commissioner's powers of revision which were taken away by the Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1939. There is a widespread demand for the restoration of these powers. While Government are prepared to accede to this demand, they are unwilling to allow the unrestricted right of application to the Commissioner which existed before 1939. Hence a fee of Rs. 25 for such application is proposed. It is specifically provided that the Commissioner may not pass any order prejudicial to an assessee.

Clause 19 seeks to amend section 34(2) which fixes time limits for completing assessments. The departmental view is that these limits do not apply to reassessments made in pursuance of an order under sections 31, 33, 66 or 66A and the amendment seeks to give effect to this view. In cases of orders under these sections it is frequently impossible to make reassessments within the time limits prescribed. It may be several years, for example, before a Privy Council appeal is decided.

Clause 20.—Consequential on clause 18.

Clause 21.—When the Act was amended in 1939 and a higher rate of tax was imposed on non-residents than on residents (section 17), section 40, which prescribes that tax on a non-resident beneficiary's agent should be recoverable to the same amount as it would be recoverable from the beneficiary if resident in British India, was overlooked. It is now proposed to put this right and at the same time opportunity is taken to recast the section so as to make its meaning clearer.

Clause 22.—The words in section 41 "appointed under a duly executed trust deed" do not cover trusts created by will. There is no reason why such trusts should be excluded. Moreover, in India where the statutes usually speak of instruments—not deeds (under seal), it is not appropriate to use the word "deed" in this connection. It is proposed therefore to adopt a more suitable form of words and to provide for trusts created by will.

Clause 23.—Consequential on the omission of section 32 by the Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1939.

Clause 24—(a).—It has been found in practice that the Collector's powers of recovering income-tax demands is inadequate. It is therefore proposed to make this amendment the effect of which would be that the Collector would have for the purpose of recovering the tax the powers which under the Civil Procedure Code a Civil Court has for the purpose of the recovery of an amount due under a decree.

Clause 24—(b).—The time limit for initiating recovery proceedings laid down in section 46(7) gives rise to practical difficulties where the Income-tax Officer at the request of the assessee allows him to pay tax in instalments. Some of these instalments may not be due until after the time limit has expired. The amendment proposes to provide for such cases.

Clause 25.—The present wording of section 49B is open to two objections: (a) a company does not pay tax on its dividends, and (b) the section conflicts with section 16(2) which grosses up a dividend at a particular rate which may not be the rate at which the company paid tax on the profits from which the dividend is paid. The proposed amendment seeks to remedy these defects and at the same time opportunity is taken to make it clear that it applies only to persons who are subject to the Indian Income-tax Act inasmuch as refunds are admissible under section 48 only in the case of such persons.

Clause 26.—The amendment proposed seeks to make section 49C(1) consistent with the proposed section 49B (clause 25).

Clause 27 seeks to make it clear that relief under section 49D is to be given in respect of super-tax as well as income-tax. Section 49(2)(a) may be referred to.

Clause 28.—Consequential on the omission of section 32 and on the constitution of the Appellate Tribunal.

Clause 29 seeks to amend the provision which allows disclosure of such facts to a Returning Officer as may be necessary to establish whether a person is or is not entitled to be entered on an electoral roll. As, in practice, a Returning Officer has nothing to do with the preparation of or revision of electoral rolls, it is proposed to substitute the words suggested.

Clause 30.—Please see note on clause 8.

Clause 31 seeks to correct a verbal error.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department

The following Bill* was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 27th October, 1941:—

L. A. BILL No. 28 OF 1941.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, so as to provide for the sending for service and execution, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of Courts established or continued by the authority of the Central Government or the Crown Representative in any part of India outside British India, of summonses and warrants for the arrest of accused persons issued in British India, and also for the service and execution in British India of the like processes issued by such Courts; V of 1898.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1941.

Insertion of new heading and sections 93A, 93B and 93C in Act V of 1898.

2. After section 93 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the following heading and sections shall be inserted, namely:— V of 1898.

"E.—Special Rules regarding processes issued for service or execution outside British India and processes received from outside British India for service or execution within British India.

Sending of summons for service outside British India.

93A. (1) Where a Court in British India desires that a summons issued by it to an accused person shall be served at any place outside British India within the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Court established or continued by the authority of the Central Government or the Crown Representative in any part of India, it shall send such summons, in duplicate, by post or otherwise, to the presiding officer of that Court to be served.

(2) The provisions of section 74 shall apply in the case of a summons sent for service under this section as if the presiding officer of the Court to whom it was sent were a Magistrate in British India.

Sending of warrant for execution outside British India.

93B. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 82, where a Court in British India desires that a warrant issued by it for the arrest of an accused person shall be executed at any place outside British India within the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Court established or continued by the authority of the Central Government or the Crown Representative in any part of India, it may send such warrant, by post or otherwise, to the presiding officer of that Court to be executed.

*The Governor General has been pleased to give the previous sanction required by section 108 (1) (c) read with section 313 (4) (a) of the Government of India Act, 1935, to the introduction in the Legislative Assembly of this Bill.

Service and execution in British India of processes received from outside British India.

93C. (1) Where a Court has received for service or execution a summons to, or a warrant for the arrest of, an accused person issued by a Court established or continued by the authority of the Central Government or the Crown Representative in any part of India outside British India, it shall cause the same to be served or executed as if it were a summons or warrant received by it from a Court in British India for service or execution within the local limits of its jurisdiction.

(2) Where any warrant of arrest has been so executed the person arrested shall so far as possible be dealt with in accordance with the procedure prescribed by sections 85 and 86."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 83 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), provides—

"83. (1) When a warrant is to be executed outside the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court issuing the same, such Court may, instead of directing such warrant to a police-officer, forward the same by post or otherwise to any Magistrate or District Superintendent of Police or the Commissioner of Police in a presidency-town within the local limits of whose jurisdiction it is to be executed.

(2) The Magistrate or District Superintendent or Commissioner to whom such warrant is so forwarded shall endorse his name thereon and, if practicable, cause it to be executed in manner hereinbefore provided within the local limits of his jurisdiction."

This provision is, however, not available for the issue of a warrant by a Court in any part of India outside British India for execution in British India or vice versa, but in practice this course has often been adopted. A recent decision of the Court of Judicial Commissioner of Sind brought into prominence the fact that under the law as it stands there is no legal means short of extradition for enforcing the presence in British Indian Courts (or in Courts in any part of India outside British India) of accused persons who are for the time being in any part of India outside British India (or in British India, as the case may be).

Extradition is a cumbersome procedure and a recourse to it is not satisfactory from the practical standpoint of the administration of criminal justice as cases of this kind are of daily occurrence. The present Bill is designed to provide for an efficient and expeditious method to secure the presence of an accused person in a Court in British India who for the time being is in a part of India outside British India and is within the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Court established or continued by the authority of the Central Government or the Crown Representative, and vice versa. In order to complete the arrangement so far as Courts established or continued by the authority of the Central Government or the Crown Representative in parts of India outside British India are concerned, the Crown Representative and the Governor General in Council will issue correlative notifications under the Foreign Jurisdiction Order in Council, 1902, and the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1937, and under section 313 of the Government of India Act, 1935, respectively.

PART VI

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly; Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly; and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 7th November 1941:—

L. A. BILL No. 36 OF 1941.

A Bill to confer supplemental powers on the Federal Court.

WHEREAS it is expedient to remove certain doubts and to confer certain supplemental powers on the Federal Court; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Federal Court (Supplemental Powers) Act, 194 .

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may by notification in the Gazette of India appoint.

Power to delegate duties.

2. The Federal Court shall have, and shall be deemed to always have had the power to delegate to the Registrar of the Court or any other official of the Court, by name or generally by designation, any judicial, quasi-judicial and non-judicial duties and such official in exercise of the delegated duties may be empowered to administer oath or solemn affirmation, as the case may be, prescribed by the Federal Court by its rules.

Amendment of Rule 10 of Order I of Act V of 1908.

3. The following clause shall be added to Rule 10 (2) of Order I of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, namely:— V of 1908.

"That on a certificate to that effect being given by the Advocate-General for a Province, that Province shall be deemed to be a necessary party to the suit."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Federal Court has provided by its rules for the delegation of certain powers of the Court to the Registrar. (See O. 8 r. 1, F. C. R.) Doubts have been raised about the validity of this rule. Sec. 128(2)(c) C. P. C. which gives such powers of delegation to the High Courts is not applicable to the Federal Court. It is doubtful whether sec. 214 of the Government of India Act, 1935, which provides "for regulating generally the practice and procedure of the Court", covers the delegation of the powers of the Court to one of its officials. It is expedient that the Federal Court rule be given validity beyond any doubt and with retrospective effect.

In the United Provinces vs. Atiqa Begum (A. I. R. 1941 F. C. 16) Gwyer C. J. has stated that under the law as it stands today "private persons can by a private settlement of the dispute, or even by collusion, prevent a Provincial Government from obtaining a decision of the Federal Court on issues of the highest importance" and has recommended necessary legislation to be undertaken by the Central Legislature. This Bill seeks to amend O. I. r. 10 C. P. C. in order to make it clear that in a private suit in which an issue affecting a Provincial Government is raised, e.g., when the validity of a provincial legislation is questioned such a Government should have the status of a party to the suit and consequently the independent right of appeal to the Federal Court under sec. 205 (2) of the Government of India Act, 1935.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 7th November 1941:—

L. A. BILL NO. 37 OF 1941.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for certain purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the purposes hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— V of 1898.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 194

Amendment of section 162, Act V of 1898.

2. In section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (hereinafter referred to as the said Code), to sub-section (1) the following further proviso shall be added, namely:— V of 1898.

"Provided that when a police officer chooses to record the statements of a number of witnesses he should record the statement of each witness separately."

Amendment of section 488, Act V of 1898.

3. In sub-section (1) of section 488 of the said Code, after the words "to maintain his wife" the following words shall be inserted, namely:—

"or a woman who has been in his keeping for a period of six years or more."

Amendment of section 496, Act V of 1898.

4. To section 496 of the said Code, the following further proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided further that when a person has been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment and desires to file an appeal from the order of his conviction and is prepared to give bail or in case of the dismissal of his appeal from a conviction and sentence of imprisonment wants to file a revision from the appellate order and is prepared to give bail, he may be released on bail by the court passing the order of conviction or dismissing the appeal, respectively:

Provided that such an order may be confirmed or cancelled by the appellate or revisional court."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Code of 1898 was the first to give the accused in a criminal prosecution an insight into the statements made by the prosecution witnesses before the police and the way in which it has been supplemented by the amendment of 1923, has proved very helpful in the administration of justice. The provision of this section can, however, be made inoperative, if instead of writing the statements of witnesses separately, they are written jointly. It has been held by the Oudh Chief Court—and held rightly in Emperor versus Salik (1937 A. L. R. Oudh, p. 201) that joint statements could not be legally used as statements of any particular prosecution witness for the simple reason that it is not known how much of any particular joint statement was the individual statement of any particular prosecution witness and how much was not his individual statement.

The Lahore High Court similarly in a previous case, Basanta Singh versus Emperor (1930 A. L. R. Lahore, p. 451), held that the trial court was right in refusing to give a copy of the statement of a witness to the accused, when on referring to the police diaries, it found that the statement of this witness was recorded jointly with another prosecution witness who was tendered for cross examination but was not cross-examined. Ever since the discovery of this loop-hole, it is being sometimes utilised by some police officers to render the provisions of section 162 nugatory. Any such practice is highly undesirable and is against the interest of justice. The addition of the proposed proviso would remove this defect.

The second amendment is intended to avoid a very undesirable social evil which appears to be on the increase and is the cause of bringing greater misery to the fair sex. It is unfortunate that some persons are so unscrupulous as to enter into illegal connection with certain young women but after a time leave them uncared for and without any assistance. People who indulge in such practices must not be allowed to go without being made responsible for the liabilities they thereby incur and must be made liable for their acts. The words "illegitimate children" already exist in the section. Now it is a question of their mothers who are to be provided for. It is with this view that the amendment is proposed.

The fourth clause relates to the granting of the bail to persons convicted of bailable offences. After a magistrate passes an order convicting a person charged with an offence, then under the law as it stands today, he has no jurisdiction to grant him bail. Similar is the condition of the court of appeal after the judgment passed by it. In cases of this type the convicted persons ordinarily get bail from the appellate or revisional courts, specially from the former, but have to undergo considerable amount of trouble and expense before the order granting bail is obtained. In many a case they have actually to pass some days in prison before they can get the desired order. In case of bailable offences a provision of the type suggested by the proposed amendment would go very much to soften the rigour of the present practice, and be helpful in advancing the interest of justice.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 7th November 1941:—

L. A. BILL No. 38 OF 1941.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Penal Code for a certain purpose.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Penal Code for the purpose hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— XLV of 1860.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Penal Code (Amendment) Act, 1941.

Amendment of section 497, Act XLV of 1860.

2. In section 497 of the Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as the said Code) for the words XLV of 1860.

"In such case the wife shall not be punishable as an abettor" the words

"In such case the wife shall be punishable as an abettor" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 498, Act XLV of 1860.

3. To section 498 of the said Code the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that in cases where the woman is an instigating party, she will be punishable as an abettor".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Adultery has always been considered to be a very heinous crime in the East.

Muslim Law took a very serious view of the offence and the punishment prescribed was death. But the advent of Western ideas and culture has gone a long way to soften that rigour. As early as 1845, an Act was passed to modify and prohibit the punishment prescribed by the Muslim Law or Customary Law of the land. Section 1 of Act No. II of 1845, laid down:—

"It is hereby enacted that whenever any person shall be convicted of the offence of adultery by any of the courts of East India Company within the territories subject to the Presidency of Bombay, such person shall be sentenced to fine or imprisonment or both, at the discretion of the court, and shall not be sentenced to any other punishment whatever, any Law or Regulation to the contrary notwithstanding."

Section 2 or the last section of this Act stated:—

"And it is hereby enacted, that no person shall be admitted to prosecute any woman for adultery other than the husband of such woman, and that no person shall be admitted to prosecute any woman for adultery other than the husband of the woman with whom such man is alleged to have committed adultery."

By this enactment the offence of adultery was reduced from a public and social offence to an offence against the husband of the woman. The husband of the woman with whom adultery was committed was given the option of proceeding against either of the parties or to let them both go unpunished. The Act XLV of 1860 went a step further and absolved the woman of any blame whatsoever. This position can be justified only on the presumption that women are so weak and incapable of protecting themselves that they cannot even protest against a wrong done to them. The condition of the females in this country has now much improved and we cannot admit that position except in rare cases. It is therefore proposed that though the woman may not be equally guilty with the man, but at least she may be punishable as an abettor, and it is provided by the proposed amendment to Section 497 I.P.C.

Similar is the case with section 498 I.P.C. In this case there is no prohibition for punishing the woman as an abettor, but the main words of the section are such that it becomes very doubtful if she can be so punishable. The words used in the Section are "Whoever takes or entices away any woman", meaning thereby that the woman is absolutely passive and is no active party to the transaction. The question of being an abettor would not thus arise. In this view of the Section, it would also follow that if the woman is an instigating party then the elements of the offence under the section would not be deemed to exist and there would be no 'taking away' or 'enticing away' and even the man would not be guilty of the offence. But this interpretation has not been accepted by the Judicial Courts. As early as 1860, it was held by the Madras High Court that 'it is none the less taking although the advances and solicitations proceeded from the woman and the accused had for some time refused to yield to her request'. Kumarasami 2, M. H. C. p. 331.

In 1902 another case came up before a Division Bench of the Madras High Court, in which the man had been convicted to six months R. I. and the woman to one month R. I. The learned Judges acquitted the woman. In their judgment they said:—

> "Whether a woman could be convicted of abetting 'the taking away' of herself within the meaning of section 498, I. P. C. we need not now decide, as that is not the offence charged against her, but we are of opinion that when a man is convicted, as in this case of 'enticing away' a woman under section 498, the woman cannot be guilty as an abettor". I. L. R. 26. Mad. p. 463.

According to the finding of the learned Judges, the woman could not be convicted as an abettor if the man was convicted of the offence. The question is whether she could be convicted of the offence if the man was acquitted. I dare say not. So there can be no case in which she can be convicted. She may have instigated the act, might have been mainly responsible, still she is to go without any punishment.

This is very unjust and inequitable and has led to a great misuse in practice. So the proposed amendment is sought to be introduced, and it is expected that by its passage, the offences of the type would be greatly reduced.

"(a) if all the wheels are fitted with pneumatic tyres and the vehicle is a delivery van and is not drawing a trailer.....No limit."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The amendments which the Bill seeks to make fall into three groups. The operation of the main Act has disclosed the need of certain minor amendments of substance, which do not affect any of the main principles of the Act but should make for more satisfactory administration; in some cases the need has arisen from developments which have taken place since the main Act was passed. Explanations of these amendments are given in the sub-joined Notes on Clauses.

There are also amendments of a more or less formal character designed to remedy omissions; these are contained in clauses 8(b), 17 and 19.

Finally, the opportunity has been taken to provide for the repeal of transitional provisions which have been rendered obsolete by the passage of time. Clauses 2, 3, 4(a)(i), 4(b), 7, 8(a), 9, 10 and 22 are of this character.

A. G. CLOW.

NEW DELHI;
The 1st November, 1941.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 4(a)(ii).—Under the second proviso to section 7(6) the licensing authority may exempt an applicant for a private driving licence from Part I of the driving test if he produces a certificate from a recognized Automobile Association. Recognized Associations are equally able to conduct Part II of the test and it is proposed to amend the proviso so as to render them competent to do so.

Clauses 5 and 11.—Sections 14 and 19 contain special provisions regarding the licensing of drivers of, and registration of, vehicles which are the property of the Central Government in the Defence Department. There are a number of vehicles which are under the exclusive control of the Defence Department but which are not the property of the Central Government, and it is desired that so long as these vehicles remain under the effective control of the Defence Department the same provisions should apply as if they were their property.

Clauses 6, 12 and 16.—The Act provides for the hearing of appeals but not for the levy of any fees on appeals. These clauses are designed to remedy the omission; they also enable the Provincial Government to make rules for the refund of fees wholly or in part where such a course appears to be justified. It is also desirable that Provincial Governments should have power by rule to exempt certain persons or classes of persons from the payment of fees under the Act.

Clause 12(c).—This seeks to empower Provincial Governments by rule to exempt road-making and cleansing plant generally from registration, which is not ordinarily necessary in such cases.

Clauses 13 and 14.—Considerable inconvenience has been caused by lack of provision for delegation of power by Transport Authorities. While there are a number of matters in which the Authorities are bound to give a hearing and others which should be considered at a regularly constituted meeting, there is a considerable amount of business of a routine nature the discharge of which can with advantage be delegated. Moreover, in the case of temporary permits the provisions of section 62(2) do not suffice. A region may comprise several civil districts and an urgent and genuine need for a temporary permit may arise at some place far from the headquarters of the Regional Transport Authority. It is desirable that there should be power to make delegations to responsible local authorities.

Clause 15.—While it is desirable to retain with Provincial Governments the power to require persons to fix hours in advance, it is desirable also that Provincial Governments should have power to authorise Transport Authorities to do so.

Clause 16(c).—The existing provision has been found defective since the "touting" abuse is not confined to stage carriages, and may extend to services of motor cabs. The existing provision does not provide for cases where no ticket is tendered for sale.

Clause 18.—The effect of section 75 is that any trafic sign erected for a purpose already provided for in the Ninth Schedule must conform to that Schedule but that the Provincial Government has power to erect signs for purposes not covered by that Schedule. But section 78 makes it obligatory upon the driver to conform only with signs specified in Part A of the Ninth Schedule. This clause seeks to impart the same force to all mandatory signs, whether they are included in the Ninth Schedule or not.

Clause 20.—Although the plying of vehicles without registration or of transport vehicles without a permit is punishable, there is no provision for stopping them from plying and thus continuing their offence. The clause provides for the grant of power for authorised officers to detain vehicles so as to prevent their being used without being registered or without a permit or in violation of certain conditions of the permit.

Clause 21.—The powers under Chapters VI and VII with which police officers have been invested cannot be exercised by officers of other departments of the Provincial Government. It is desirable that when special departments are set up for the purpose of administering the Act, the officers of these departments should have the powers entrusted to police officers by the Act.

Clause 23.—Sub-clause (a) has the same purpose as clauses 5 and 11. It is not possible for the Master General of the Ordnance personally to discharge these functions, and sub-clause (b) will permit this to be done under his supervision and control. With the expansion in the number of motor vehicles used by the defence services, the system of registration marks contained in the Act has become inadequate, and sub-clause (c) makes provision for a revised system.

Clause 24.—By definition a "delivery van" is a goods vehicle, but is not a "light transport vehicle". Consequently it falls under item 2(b) in the Eighth Schedule and is subjected to a speed limit of 15 miles per hour. A "delivery van" is a vehicle not exceeding 5,000 lbs. in laden weight and it is not necessary that it should be subjected to any speed limit other than those locally in force in the area in which it is used.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

According to Muslim Law the decree of Kazi duly appointed by the state is necessary for certain socio-religious and religious matters such as dissolution of marriages. In addition to these the Kazi is to preside and perform certain ceremonies such as the marriage ceremony and is to conduct the Juma and Ead prayers. After the settlement of Muhammadans in India, Kazis were appointed by the state for the cities, principal towns and in the purganahs for performing all the duties allotted to them by the Muslim Law. On the inception of the British Rule their status was recognised by the British Government also. Regulation XXXIX of 1793 was the first one in this connection. It was intended to provide for the recognition and appointment of Kazis and Kazi-ul-Kuzzat. The preamble of that Regulation says:—

> "Kauzis are stationed at cities of Patna, Dacca and Morshidabad and the principal towns and the purganahs for the purpose of preparing and attesting the deeds of transfer and other law papers, celebrating marriages and performing such religious duties or ceremonies prescribed by the Mohammadan Law, as hitherto have been discharged by them under the British Government and also for superintending the sale of the distrained properties and paying charitable and other pensions and allowances under Regulations XVII and XXIV of 1793. The nature of the above mentioned duties renders it necessary that persons of character and duly qualified with respect to legal knowledge, should be appointed to these offices, and encourage them to discharge their trusts with diligence and fidelity, they should not be liable to removal, unless proved to be incapable or guilty of misconduct to the satisfaction of the Governor General in Council. The following rules have been accordingly enacted."

With the gradual increase of the territory of the East India Company, similar Regulations and Acts were passed for other provinces also. In addition to the Kazis, however, there used to be Hindu and Mohammadan Law Officers attached to the courts to help those courts in the administration of Hindu and Mohammadan Law respectively —the presiding officers of the courts at the time having had no training in those branches of law. This had become necessary as the East India Company was gradually transferring the administration of justice from the hands of Indians to those of the English Judges—and was thus necessarily a transitory stage. It appears that in 1864 Hindu and Mohammadan Law Officers were deemed to have served their purpose in having given the necessary training to the English Judges and having produced sufficient quantity of legal precedent to guide future courts. They were no more required and were thus removed by Act XI of 1864. But along with the Hindu and Mohammadan Law Officers, the Regulations and Acts relating to Kazis were also repealed, though as a matter of fact, they neither imposed any such burden on the state nor were they in any sense matters of transitory nature. The Honourable Mr. A. A. Roberts in seeking for leave to introduce the Bill which ultimately became Act XI of 1864, first narrated the reasons which led to the abolition of the posts of Hindu and Mohammadan Law Officers. Then coming to Kazi-ul-Kuzzat and Kazi he said:—

> "It was further proposed by the Bill to dissever connection of the Government with the office of Kazi-ul-Kuzzat, or the chief Kazi of a province, and also with offices of city, town and purganahs Kazis. These offices did not rest upon, nor were they created by any legislative enactment of the British rule. They were an institution of Mohammadan Government and Mohammadan Society. We found Kazis in every city, town and purganas, and all our earlier legislators sought to do, was to define generally what the duties of Kazis were and to provide that persons of character and duly qualified with respect of knowledge should be appointed to those offices."

Then he recounted how gradually the functions of preparing and attesting deeds of transfer and law papers, and of Notary public were gradually superseded by regular departments, though the Kazis continue to attest deeds—which were yet then recognized by the courts. He also pointed out that the duties of distraining the properties had also been gradually transferred from the hands of the Kazis and pensions and charities were no longer distributed by them. About the burden that the state had to bear in respect of the salaries of the Kazis he observed:—

> "A few Kazis might have received small salaries and there were believed to be few endowments in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies, but the majority of the Kazis had been remunerated for any services they might have performed for the State by Khilats or annual presents in the shape of money or shawls which were generally bestowed on the Bengal side on the Id festival. For their services as Public Notaries or for their attendance at marriages, etc., they were remunerated by persons who employed them."

In the end he described the effect of his proposal after the passing of that Act in the following words:—

> "Whether those who had heretofore been appointed by Government or those who had established themselves as Kazis to the satisfaction of the community to which they belonged, would be free to discharge such duties as had heretofore been performed by them and were prescribed by the Mohammadan Law. All that it was proposed to do was to repeal the existing laws on our Statute Book regarding the office of the Kazis and to declare that the Government would not heretofore make any fresh appointment to that office."

For this purpose a saving clause was introduced in the Act. It said:—

> "Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed so as to prevent a Kazi-ul-Kuzzat or other Kazi from performing, when required to do so, any duties or ceremonies prescribed by the Mohammadan Law."

At the time when this Bill was introduced in the Council His Late Highness Nawab Yusuf Ali Khan, the then Nawab of Rampur, the only Muslim member of Council—he was probably nominated for this Bill as he took oath that very day—opposed the provision relating to the abolition of the post of Kazi, but the Bill was passed. The result of this change was just contrary to what was hoped by the mover, who expected that Kazi would continue to function in the Muslim Community in spite of the withdrawal by the Government of their approval to his appointment. This happened as the Muslim Law requires the Kazi to be appointed by the state and as subsequent to the passing of this Act of 1864, it was held by both Bombay and Madras High Courts that the appointment of a Kazi cannot be made except by the State. Thus the absence of a validly appointed Kazi caused great hardship to the Muslim community. This matter was again and again brought to the notice of the Government. Ultimately the late Sir Ahmad Khan brought a Bill in the Legislative Council in 1880, which was passed as Act No. XII of 1880 and was named Kazis Act. That Act authorized the Local Government to appoint Kazis for any particular area on the desire of the Muslim Community living in that area, but gave him absolutely no powers. Section 4 of the Act took away whatever sanctity could be attached to the appointment by the Government. It ran as follows:—

"Nothing herein contained, and no appointment made hereunder, shall be deemed:—

(a) to confer any judicial or administrative power on any Kazi or Naib Kazi appointed hereunder; or

(b) to render the presence of Kazi or Naib Kazi necessary at the celebration of any marriage or the performance of any rite or ceremony; or

(c) to prevent any person discharging any of the functions of a Kazi".

The appointment of a Kazi proved to be of no effect. How can a Kazi who was to have as his competitor any person who chose to work as such possibly be expected to keep a complete record of marriages of the town or purganah in which he was working. He could be of no use for purposes of effecting dissolution of marriages as he had no judicial powers. The defect in the Bill was so apparent that when the Bill came up for consideration before the Council even His Excellency Lord Ripon, the then Viceroy, was struck with this strange feature of the Bill and he is reported to have observed:—

".....it was stated in clause (a), sub-section 4 of the Bill, that it was not to confer any judicial or other powers on any Kazi or Naib Kazi appointed thereunder. He thought it rather singular to enact that a man who was appointed should have no kind of power whatever."

The remarks of His Excellency were pertinent, and as the future proved this novel experiment in the Legislative field came to nothing. In supporting the Bill which was at that time supposed to have some value and to be effective in solving the difficulties of the Muslim Community to a certain extent the Honourable Mr. Gibbs from Bombay is reported to have said:—

"that he might mention with regard to this Bill that the inconvenience of not having Kazis had been experienced on the Bombay side. In former years, before the Act No. XII of 1864 had been passed, there were Government Kazis appointed in all the principal places in Bombay and they were often of great use in settling small disputes which might otherwise have troubled the magistrates or courts. He had never been able to make out why, in that Act, there was a clean sweep made of all Kazis in the country, but it had done harm in leaving the Mohammadans without any sort of head to whom they might refer their little domestic difficulties and this want had been much felt, and had led often to their taking the law in their own hands, and committing breaches of it. He was therefore glad to see that the present Bill had been brought in."

But the inherent defect of the Act deprived the Muslim Community of the benefit which it was intended to confer, and nothing came out of it, and it is only a dead letter today.

So it is high time that proper legislation in this direction should be undertaken at an early date. This, however, depends upon the attitude of the Government, as without its help it is not possible to give any powers to this religious official even in respect of domestic affairs of Muslims. Knowing the difficulties of that legislature I restrict myself at the present time only to the removing of some of the defects of the Act XII of 1880 only. It is intended that some regularity may be effected in keeping the records of marriages. The serious conflicts in many cases—civil and criminal—regarding the factum of marriage, and the amount of dower debt, etc., cannot be properly settled for want of reliable records of marriages. This is one of the minor handicaps from which Muslims are suffering for want of recognised Kazis. The endless litigation—which is considerably on is causing much dissipation of energy, waste of time and money and is leading to a general lowering of the moral level of the society. Experience shows that wherever records of marriages have been regularly started these evils have decreased. I know that amongst some agricultural classes arrangements of this type have been worked out successfully. But that cannot be done for the whole community without proper legislation, and it is with this view that I am introducing this Bill.

Dacca, the 11th December 1941.

Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1941-42.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1939-40, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 20·8 per cent. of the total area under winter rice in India.)

Character of the season.—Since the issue of the first forecast in September last the weather conditions have been quite satisfactory for the growth of the crop. Heavy rainfall and flood in October last, however, caused some damage in certain water-logged fields. The present condition of the crop is good. The provincial outturn is anticipated to be 87 per cent. of the normal.

Acreage.—According to the figures returned by the District Officers, the total area under winter rice is 16,906,500 acres as compared with 14,897,200 and 14,916,700 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—From the summary of the district returns appended it will be seen that eight districts report a normal crop of 100 per cent., two districts 96-97 per cent. and with the exception of one returning 60 per cent. of the normal, the remaining districts anticipate outturn varying from 92 to 75 per cent. According to the above estimates the provincial outturn works out to 87 per cent. of the normal as against 72 and 63 per cent., respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Accepting 87 per cent. as the provincial outturn, the gross yield of the crop, on the basis of a normal yield of 12½ maunds of clean rice (husked) per acre, is estimated at 6,754,000 tons this year as against 4,925,200 and 4,315,200 tons, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Criminal Law (Industrial Areas) Amendment Bill, 1941.

We, the members of the Select Committee to which the Bengal Criminal Law (Industrial Areas) Amendment Bill, 1941, was referred by a motion carried in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 5th August, 1941, have the honour to submit this our final report with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by us. Matters recommended by us to be omitted have been printed in italics and enclosed in square brackets, and all new matters recommended to be inserted have been underlined.

The Committee met on the 4th September, 1941, for the first time and concluded their sitting on the 11th September, 1941.

The Bill has not been altered by our recommendation to an extent requiring republication.

The changes made by us are detailed below.

Clause 1.—We have redrafted sub-clauses (2) and (3) and renumbered it as sub-clause (2).

This is also consequential upon the insertion of new clause 1A.

New clause 1A.—We have inserted this new clause empowering the Government to declare any area to be an industrial area for the purposes of this Act.

Clause 2—Paragraph (b).—We have redrafted this paragraph to make it more comprehensive.

We have substituted the words "person previously convicted of theft" for the words "reputed thief" in line 10 of this clause, to make the meaning more clear.

Clause 3—Sub-clause (1).—We have made a slight drafting change and have increased the period of imprisonment for an offence under this clause from three months to six months, as we consider that the punishment should be heavier to be more effective.

Sub-clause (2).—We have also increased the period of imprisonment for an offence under this sub-clause from three months to six months for the same reason as in the preceding sub-clause.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Thefts of articles from railway workshops and stores and from mill and industrial areas are of frequent occurrence and it is always difficult to bring the offenders to book owing to the difficulty of satisfactory identification of the articles as required by law. The question of dealing with the criminals has been examined by the Railway Administrations as also by the Blandy-Gordon Committee and by Government and the view has been held that the problem can be effectively met only by special legislation on the lines of sections 32 and 54A of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, which while applying to the whole of Bengal should, at the outset, be extended to such individual areas as Government may, from time to time, notify to that effect. For the present, it is proposed to make the Bill applicable to the railway workshops at Kharagpur, Kanchrapara and Chittagong

No. 1971L.C.—17th December 1941.—The following report of the Select Committee on the Bengal State-Aid to Industries (Amendment) Bill, 1941, with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by the Committee, is hereby published for general information.

Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal State Aid to Industries (Amendment) Bill, 1941.

The Bill has not been altered by our recommendation to an extent requiring republication.

The changes made by us are detailed below.

Clause 2.—We have made certain changes in the proposed clause (4) (d) of sub-clause (1) as we consider it necessary that the definition of the word "industry" should also include any industrial business or enterprise undertaken or conducted by any person.

Clause 3.—We consider that the number of representatives from the Bengal Legislative Council as well as from the Bengal Legislative Assembly should be increased and as such, in the proposed clauses (c) and (c1), in sub-clause (2), we have increased the number from "one" to "two" and from "three" to "four" respectively. We also consider that the manner of holding the election should be prescribed by rules made by the Provincial Government and have made necessary additions.

Clause 5.—We are of opinion that the term of the office of the Chairman and the Vice-Chairman should be fixed by the provisions of the Act itself and as such, we have omitted sub-section (2) of the proposed section 6 and have added sub-sections (4) and (5).

Clause 8.—We have made certain additions to this clause in order to provide for the acceptance of donations, endowments or contributions from any person for the aid of a particular industry in any particular form specified by such person, if it is not inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Act.

Clause 10.—We have made certain drafting changes in this clause which are consequential.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bengal State Aid to Industries Act was enacted in 1931 and brought into actual operation in 1934. The Act was designed primarily for the purpose of affording financial assistance to cottage industries and industries on a small scale in the shape of loans, cash credits, etc. Experience of the working of the Act has, however, shown that it is capable of improvement and the object of the proposed Amending Bill is to modify the existing provisions so as to allow of a wider and more generous application and to remove certain minor defects in the Act.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1972L.C.—17th December 1941.—The following report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Markets Regulation Bill, 1941, with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by the Committee, is hereby published for general information.

S. K. D. GUPTA,

Secy. to the Bengal Legis. Council.

Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Markets Regulation Bill, 1941 (as passed by the Assembly).

We, the members of the Select Committee to which the Bengal Markets Regulation Bill, 1941, was referred by a motion carried in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 3rd September, 1941, have the honour to submit this our final report with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by us. Matters recommended by us to be omitted have been printed in italics and enclosed in square brackets, and all new matters recommended to be inserted have been underlined.

The Committee met on the 10th September, 1941, and concluded their sitting on the 10th November, 1941.

The Bill has not been altered by our recommendation to an extent requiring republication.

The changes made by us are detailed below.

Clause 2.

New sub-clause (1) (aa).—We consider it desirable to include in the definition of "agricultural produce" handspun yarns and have accordingly inserted this new paragraph in sub-clause (1).

Sub-clause (1) (c).—We have made certain drafting changes in it.

Sub-clause (4) (a).—The figure 3 in line 1 has been omitted as being consequential to the omission of clause 3 of the Bill.

Sub-clause (6).—We have changed the word "and" after the words "actual charge" in line 2 for the word "or", as we consider that it may not always be possible for a single person to be in actual charge and also in direct control of the market.

Clause 3.

We have omitted this clause as we do not consider it necessary.

Clause 4.

Sub-clause (4) (b).—We have substituted the words "District Judge" for the words "District Magistrate" in this sub-clause, as we consider that in such cases the power of appeal should be given to the district judicial officer.

Clause 5.

Sub-clause (6).—We have changed the words "owner of a market" for the words "licensee of a market, the person, if any, immediately under whom such licensee holds the market" to make it more comprehensive.

We have also changed the word "and" in line 2 for the word "or" which is consequential to the similar change made in clause 2(6).

Clause 6.

Sub-clause (2) (a).—We have made certain drafting changes in it.

Sub-clause (2) (b).—We have inserted the words "in the prescribed manner" after the words "in writing" in line 3 as we consider it necessary and appropriate.

Sub-clause (2) (f).—We have added the words "and the net income derived from the market as estimated in the manner prescribed" at the end of this sub-clause as we think that the conditions of licence should also be proportionate to the net income yielded by the market to be licensed.

New clauses 6A, 6B and 6C.

We consider it necessary that any transfer of proprietorship of a market licensed under this Act should be intimated by the licensee to the authority which granted the licence, as otherwise various difficulties will arise and as such we have inserted the new clause 6A providing for the above requirements.

We also think it advisable that the Government should be annually furnished with particulars in respect of fairs and melas licensed by the district boards, and markets licensed by municipalities or the Corporation of Calcutta in order to maintain a complete list thereof in the register to be maintained for the purpose. We have accordingly provided for these in the new clauses 6B and 6C.

Clause 7.

Sub-clause (2).—We have inserted the words "which are held for more than three consecutive days" after the words "fair or mela" in line 2 as being necessary and consequential.

Sub-clause (4) (b).—We have substituted the words "take such action as he considers proper on such recommendation or report" for the words "either accept or reject such recommendation or report" in this sub-clause, as we consider that some more discretionary power should be given to the prescribed authority.

Sub-clause (5) (b).—We have made certain drafting changes in this sub-clause to make the meaning more clear.

We have also inserted the words "subject to the provision of sub-section (6)" after the word "shall" in line 14 which is consequential to the insertion of the new sub-clause (6).

New sub-clause (6).—We consider that the decision of the prescribed appellate authority as referred to in sub-clause (5) should not be final and that provision should be made for a further appeal to a higher authority and we have accordingly added this new sub-clause making the necessary provisions therein.

New clause 8A.

We have discussed thoroughly the point raised with reference to Regulation XXVII of 1793 regarding the propriety of taxes or tolls levied by the zemindars on markets established before 1793. We are of opinion that there is much force in the point and as such we consider it advisable that a difference should be made between markets established before 1793 and those established after that date. As the zemindars were paid adequate compensation by Government for those markets at that time there would be no justification for allowing the zemindars to levy taxes or tolls on markets established before 1793.

Great difficulty will no doubt arise in determining the antiquity of a particular market and with a view to avoiding this difficulty as also to ascertaining whether full compensation had been granted in respect of the estate in which the market is situated, we consider it advisable for the District Magistrate to make reference to the permanent settlement papers by looking into the fact whether sair collections were consolidated in the Government revenue or not.

We also deem it fit and proper that if no such information is available from the permanent settlement papers in respect of any market, it should be taken that no compensation had been paid for such market.

We have accordingly added the new clause 8A after clause 8, incorporating therein the above provisions.

Clause 9.

Sub-clause (2).—We have made certain changes in this sub-clause, which are of drafting nature.

New clause 19A

We consider it necessary that some provision should be made for the acquisition of land for the purpose of carrying out the objects of this Act, and the acquisition of such land should be deemed to be an acquisition by a Company for a public purpose under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. We have accordingly inserted this new clause 19A incorporating therein the above provisions.

Clause 20.

New sub-clauses (1a) and (1b).—We consider it desirable that before the establishment of any market in any locality by Government under section 20, it should be brought to the notice of the public by notification etc., inviting objections, if any, to the establishment of such market and such objections should be considered by the Government before finally establishing the market. We have accordingly inserted these new sub-clauses making provision for the same.

Clause 23.

Sub-clause (2).—We have omitted paragraph (i) and have added the new paragraphs (iiia), (iiib) and (iiic) and have also made certain changes in paragraphs (vi) and (xiv). All these additions and alterations are consequential.

Clause 25.

We have omitted the entries relating to clause 3, sub-clauses (1) and (2) from the table annexed to this clause as being unnecessary in view of the omission of clause 3.

We have also inserted in the table certain entries which are consequential to the insertion of new clauses 6A and 8A in the Bill.

Minute of dissent by the Hon'ble Mr. Tamizuddin Khan.

I have signed the Report subject to the condition that I reserve my opinion on the change in sub-clause 4(b) of clause 4 and the new clauses 8A and 19A recommended by the Select Committee.

Minute of dissent by Khan Bahadur Saiyed Muazzamuddin Hosain, M.L.C.

I have to record my strong objection to clause 8 of the Bill, which seems to legalise collection of market fees as distinct from rent by the landlords, though they were not only abolished and forbidden throughout the three provinces of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, but their collection in future by landlords or any person of whatever discription was made penal by Regulation XXVIII of 1793.

It is true that on my drawing attention to the provisions of Regualtions I and XXVII of 1793, the Select Committee have conceded so far that landlords have no right to collect market fees from markets existing from 1793 and have added clause 8A to that effect, but it is to be regretted that in coming to this decision the majority of the members of the Select Committee did not look at the question from the point of view of members of a Legislature and were largely influenced by certain High Court Rulings according to which Regulation XXVII of 1793 applied only to hats and bazars existing from 1793. The principal ruling giving such a narrow interpretation to the provisions of Regulation XXVII is reported in XXI W. R. P. 383. On a perusal of the ruling it is found that on the strength of the finding in some previous rulings to the effect that section 5 of Regulation XXVII of 1793 referred to hats and bazars of 1793, their Lordships held that the entire regulation applied only to markets of that period. Section 5 could not possibly refer to any future market, as it dealt with the question of future utilisation of the open space and streets of markets for which compensation was paid to the zaminders. But sections 1, 2 and 4 referred to the question of sair collection or market-fees in general and those sections clearly show that such collection having been found vexatious to public and a hindrance to the promotion of commerce and trade, the Government in 1790 first resumed such sair collections and only 2 months after altogether abolished them throughout the 3 provinces with a view to "reform the abuses" for the "promotion of commerce and general relief of the inhabitants" and gave compensation to the landlords at the time of abolishing those unauthorised cesses, not on account of any right they possessed to collect them but only to alleviate hardship.

There is not the slightest indication in the Regulation that the abolition was confined to the hats and bazars of 1790 or 1793. Their Lordships of the High Court were apparently misled by section 5 of the Regulation and though pointed reference was made to sections 1, 2 and 4 of the Regulation by the Lower Court, their Lordships did not at all discuss the provisions of those sections and as such their judgment was of the nature of obiter dictum. It is absurd to believe that the Legislature which incorporated the rules published in 1790 regarding resumption and abolition of sair collections in "hats, bazars, gunges and other places" throughout the 3 provinces in a Regulation (in Regulation XXVII) on the same date on which Permanent Settlement Regulation was passed, for general information of the public and definitely laid down in section 1 of the Regulation that those rules unless reversed or modified by the said regulation or by any regulation of the same date, should be considered to be in force, wanted to stop the abuses and undue exactions in the then existing markets only and not in any future market. Does it stand to reason that the Legislature thought that sair collection would be vexatious to the public and a hindrance to promotion of trade and commerce in the old markets existing from 1793 and they won't be so in new markets? Besides that the phrase "forthwith abolished throughout the 3 provinces" does not leave any room for doubt that it was abolished for ever from all places throughout the 3 provinces If the High Court interpretation of "abolition" in Regulation XXVII of 1793 as given in XXI W. R. p. 383 be correct one might as well say that Regulation VIII of 1793 which abolished collection of abwabs referred to such collection being made from the raiyats of Permanent Settlement period only. One could on the same line of reasoning say that the abolition of slave trade after giving compensation to the owners of slaves had reference to the slaves who were emancipated and there was nothing illegal in having recourse to slave trade subsequent to such emancipation.

The High Court as well as the majority of the members of the Select Committee concentrated their attention on Regulation XXVII of 1793 which has since been repealed, and overlooked the clear provisions of law regarding sair collection in Regulation I of 1793 which is still in force. Regulation XXVII of 1793 was not a substantive law at all, but it merely incorporated the rules regarding resumption and abolition of sair collection promulgated before the Permanent Settlement, for the information of public and laid down that the rules unless modified by the same regulation or by any other regulation of the same date should be considerred to be in force. Regulation XXVII is of value for finding out what were really sair collections which were abolished. The essence of the existing law regarding sair collection is however to be found in the 2nd paragraph of Article VII of Regulation I. It is clearly laid down there that sair collections were abolished on the 28th July, 1790, and the proprietors were paid compensation for this abolition and so if the Government thought "it proper to re-establish the sair collections or any other internal duties.....no proprietor of land will be admitted to any participation thereof". The wordings are very general and nowhere any mention of any "hat or bazar" not to speak of any "hat or bazar of Permanent Settlement period" is to be found. Even in Regulation XXVII the phrase "or other places in the provinces" after the words "Gunges, bazars, hats" in section IV clearly indicates that the collection of sair or internal duties was abolished from all places in the province and not merely from "hats and bazars" and it must be for all time to come when the abolition of sair mentioned in Regulation I still stands as good law. How can after this market-fees which are clearly sair collections pure and simple, be at all claimed by any proprietor as legal due? The mere collection of an illegal cess for a number of years or even for a century will not make the cess legal or give the person collecting any prescriptive right. If it were so, collection of abwabs would also be legal.

From the second paragraph of Article VII of Regulation I of 1793 it is abundantly clear that the Government alone reserved the exclusive right of re-establishment of sair collections and other internal duties. In spite of this, does it lie in the mouth of anybody to say that the zamindars could impose tolls and duties on merchandise in markets established by them after 1793? The High Court rulings were on the face of it erroneous and it was up to the Legislature to take this opportunity of clearing up the matters and making provisions in the Bill giving effect to the real intention of the Legislature in 1793 which was certainly to the effect that the general public and vendors should have "free use of the temporary stalls and sheds and open streets" in the market as set forth in section V of Regulation XXVII of 1793 just as they have free use of cow paths and village paths.

The majority in the Select Committee however took a narrow point of view and decided to abide by the High Court decision, though they knew that as members of the Legislature they could go behind even Privy Council decisions and it was their clear duty to do so, if necessary, in the interest of the general public. I therefore record my emphatic protest against the decision of the majority members in this important matter. If the clause stands as it is, it will be a retrograde and anti-democratic measure and a clear encroachment on the valued rights of the public in general and the vendors in particular.

The so-called concession made in favour of the general public and vendors by the newly added clause 8A which enacts that zamindars have no right to collect any market-fees from markets existing since 1793, has been hedged round with such impossible conditions that as a matter of fact the zamindar will get the right of collecting tolls in all markets. It has been provided in the clause that only such markets in respect of which the Permanent Settlement papers of the Collectorate showed that compensation was paid for sair collection at the time of Permanent Settlement, should be treated as having existed from 1793. It is not perhaps known to many of the members that the Permanent Settlement papers do not exist in respect of most estates and even where they exist they are not likely to show the names of individual markets for which compensation was paid. If it is really intended that zamindars should not get any market-fee from markets existing from 1793 the Legislature should lay down plainly that on proof of existence of a market for over 30 or 40 years, the market should, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be presumed to have been existing from 1793. There is precedent of a similar presumption in section 50(2) of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

Paragraph second of Article VII of Regulation I of 1793 having definitely laid down that "a full compensation was granted to the proprietors of land for the loss of Revenue sustained by them in consequence of" abolition of sair it will be going behind the provision of law to permit re-opening of the question as to whether compensation was paid or not by requiring the District Magistrate to determine the question after examining the papers of Permanent Settlement period. The provisions of clause 8A(2) are thus not only unnecessary and uncalled for but improper.

The Bill as revised by the Select Committee does not give any definition of market-fees. It is apprehended there will be constant dispute as to what are market-fees as distinct from "rent". Regulation XXVII of 1793 had by section V made it clear that ground-rent and rents from permanent shops in markets paid in annual or monthly instalments would be rent and not sair collection, but anything realised from vendors and purchasers of hat who occupy open spaces, streets or temporary sheds of markets would be tolls or sair collection within the meaning of the Regulation. The High Court ruling reported in XXI W. R., page 383, however, has created complication even in this clear provision of law in Regulation XXVII of 1793 by holding that even anything paid in kind at a daily or monthly rate for use or occupation of land would be rent. If the High Court interpretation of "rent" be taken to be correct, there would remain nothing to be termed as tolls or market-fees, as the tolls realised from vendors selling in open spaces and streets of markets could be treated as rent. Under clause 8 of the Bill as it now stands the zamindar may treat all existing tolls as rents and may submit statements showing that no market-fees are collected by them at all. The main object of the Bill will be frustrated if this happens. It is therefore absolutely necessary that a proper definition of "market fee" as distinct from "rent" be given in the Act.

It is further apprehended that the provisions of the Bill which seek to give relief to the public by regulating the market-fees, may operate as an engine of oppression. It is very likely that unless some definite provision be added making it clear that those shop-keepers and vendors who pay rents shall be exempt from payment of market-fees, there will be double realisation from vendors—once in the shape of market-fees, and again in the shape of rent, in place of only one now generally paid. The Select Committee should have guarded against the chances of double realisation by making some definite provision in the Bill.

In view of the existing law regarding sair and other internal duties the right course for the Legislature would be not to enact any provision which is likely to have the effect of reviving "Sair and internal duties". They should hold fast to the policy of "abolition of sair" which is the existing law and should content themselves with regulating the rents of bhitees in markets which are now unrestricted, by fixing maximum rates for different kinds of lands in each class of markets. The rents of bhitees in markets, even if controlled, will secure to the proprietors much more than what they would have got as rent if the lands were let out to agricultural tenants and they ought to be satisfied with it. I reserve the right of tabling amendments on these lines when the Bill is taken up for consideration in the floor of the House.

Minute of dissent by Mr. Lalit Chandra Das, M.L.C.

I am of opinion that too much power has been acquired by this Bill for the Executive to the detriment of the just interests of the "owners" of the market. The retention of clause 21 of the Bill will encourage "zuloom" and protect the wrong-doers under the pretext of controlling and regulating the markets. Clause 21 should go and with it also clause 22 of the Bill which curtails the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts which are the bulwark of the civil rights of the people. The jurisdiction of the Civil Courts should be kept unhampered in all essential matters as for example the grant or refusal of a licence, the decision as to whether a particular market is or is not existing from before 1793, the rates of the market, etc.

When it is acquisition of assuming the control of the market for the faults of the lessee or the licence-holders, the authorities should offer it first to the immediate proprietor of the market if he is not the licence-holder before the control of the market is taken up by the Government.

I am opposed to the Government taxing a market where the collection of sair or toll has been abolished.

Minute of dissent by Khan Bahadur Naziruddin Ahmad, M.L.C.

I regret I have to differ from the majority of the Committee on some fundamental aspects of clause 8A as well as on some matters of a drafting nature. I feel bound out of respect for the majority of my colleagues, to state my reasons for my dissent as concisely as I can consistently with the needs of clarity.

2. The question to be decided is in form a simple one, namely, whether the levy of tolls should be forbidden in all markets in Bengal. But the actual determination involves some difficult and obscure constitutional questions. They have, however, a practical bearing on the ultimate shape to be given to clause 8A and must be carefully considered for a clarification of the issues involved.

3. By a "well-known law of the country", "sair collections" or collections of "internal duties" was the exclusive privilege of Government. These "sair collections" were duties which the owners of gunges, bazars, hats, etc., used to levy on "commodities sold" or "exposed for sale". This levy, by owners of land on which hats existed, was prohibited from time to time and finally, in a consolidated form, by the Sair Regulation (Regulation XXVII of 1793) (see also Surendro vs. Kedar, I.L.R. 19 Calcutta, 8). The sair collections have ever since remained a monopoly of the Government. By the Government of India Act, 1919, the right to realize tolls was transferred to the provinces [see section 80A (3) (a) of the Government of India Act, 1919, and the Scheduled

Taxes Rules made thereunder by the Governor-General]. Under the present Government of India Act, 1935, such a levy has been by its modern name—"tax on the sale of goods", reserved for the provinces (see item 48 in List II of Schedule II to the Act). Bengal has already exercised the monopoly by placing on the Statute Book the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, 1941. The law recognizing the State monopoly of the tax on the sale of goods has ever remained the same through such names as "sair collections", "internal duties", "tolls" or "tax on the sale of goods".

4. Though sair collections by the landlords were abolished, the landlords were declared, by the Regulation, to be entitled to yearly or monthly rent for permanent houses and shops in the hat but the public were declared to have right to the free use of open land and temporary sheds and stalls therein. But the force of this Regulation has been seriously impaired by the following three factors:—

(i) It has been held that this Regulation applied only to hats or bazars existing from before the Regulation (see Aftabuddin vs. Mohinee, XV Weekly Reporter, p. 48; Bungsho vs. Mudhoo, XXI Weekly Reporter, p. 383);

(ii) It has been held that collections from vendors at the hats by landlords amounted to collection of rent (see Boikunto vs. Ram Rutton, Sudder Dewany Adawlat Reports, Volume 9, page 455);

(iii) Regulation XXVII has been repealed by Act XXIX of 1871, though with the usual reservation that the repeal would not legalize or revive any practice which was illegal at the date of repeal.

5. Taking the last point first, the question arises as to whether, by this reservation, the country was relegated back to the state of the law existing in 1793, or whether by a natural process of evolution, other more vigorous laws rendered the Regulation obsolete within the space of 78 years of its nominal life, or during 70 years that have rolled by since its repeal up to the present time. This is the crux of the matter and, upon a proper solution of this question, will depend the ultimate shape to be given to clause 8A.

6. After some prolonged consideration I am inclined to think that the reservation did not keep alive the provisions of the Repealed Regulation (Regulation XXVII of 1793), but it saved other substitutes which had come into being meanwhile. A repeal of an enactment is not the best way to keep alive its provisions. It seems to me reasonably clear that the provisions of the Regulation were obsolete or spent up and hence they were repealed without prejudice to existing laws. The laws which were saved in 1871 have, in their turn, been repealed and other laws are in possession of the field to-day and would challenge intrusion or competition.

7. The theory of rent based upon a distinction between permanent shops and houses on the one hand and temporary stalls and open land on the other, or between daily and monthly or yearly rent, as appears in the Regulation, is crude and imperfect. The distinction may have been due to economic ideas and condition then prevailing. Circumstances have changed and the interplay of economic forces have revolutionized economic ideas and legal conceptions. The law of landlord and tenant, relating to agricultural land, was first systematically codified in 1859 (the Bengal Rent Act X of 1859). The theory of rent had undergone much development and refinement by the time and the crude notions prevailing in 1793 about rent were not repeated in the Act of 1859. The Bengal Rent Act, 1859, has been repealed throughout Bengal (except the district of Darjeeling) by the Bengal Tenancy Act (VIII of 1885). As to non-agricultural land, the field was covered by some Acts and Regulations and the English Common Law and these were finally codified by the Transfer of Property Act (IV of 1882).

8. Rent is payable by the tenant to his landlord for the use of land. Under the Bengal Tenancy Act, rent is "whatever is lawfully payable or deliverable in money or kind" [see section 3(13) of the Act]; under the Transfer of Property Act, it means "money, share of crops or other thing of value" [see section 105 of the Act]. It would therefore seem to follow that more recent and special enactments relating to landlord and tenant were in the field and the repeal of Regulation XXVII and the reservation, referred to in paragraph 4(ii) above, had not the effect of relegating us to the laws prevailing in 1793 but to those in actual existence in 1871 including Act X of 1859. In 1941, rent would be controlled by the Bengal Tenancy Act or the Transfer of Property Act, as the case may be. It seems to me that if a dealer goes to a hat belonging to another and sells or exposes his goods for sale, the latter is entitled to realize rent which may be in money or kind, i.e., part of the goods brought for sale under the existing Acts.

9. The distinction between tax on the sale of goods and rent for the use of shops or land, etc., is theoretically simple but difficult to express in words. Rent depends on the use of lands and houses; it has no relation to sale. On the other hand "toll" or "tax on the sale of goods" depends on the quantity or the value of the goods sold; it has no relation to land or house occupied. A dealer may occupy a land or house, the daily rent of which may be four annas; but his goods may not be sold. He will have to pay a rent of four annas though he has sold nothing. He may occupy the same land or house at the same rent and may sell goods of the value of Rs. 100 one day and Rs. 200 another day. His rent would remain the same but if he is made to pay "toll" or "tax on the sale", say at one pice per rupee, he would have to pay Rs. 1-9 on the first day and Rs. 3-2 on the second day. This is over and above the rent which is a distinct category of law altogether from "tolls" or "taxes on sale".

10. On a careful consideration of the above, it would appear that two very broad propositions may be laid down which should be borne in mind—

(i) the owner of a hat is entitled to realize rent in money or in kind for the use of his land, house, shop or shed;

(ii) he cannot realize any "tolls" or "taxes on the sale of goods".

11. Clause 8A fails to answer these tests. It is wrongly conceived and its draftsmanship leaves considerable room for improvement. The defects are summarized below:—

(i) the clause makes a wrong and artificial distinction between markets existing from before 1793 and those which came into being later; there should be one law governing all markets irrespective of their age;

(ii) the clause should be entirely redrafted and recast to provide the following:—

(a) owners of markets may realize rent for the use of their land, houses, sheds, etc., which may be in money or in kind,

(b) all "taxes on the sale of goods" should be forbidden;

(iii) the clause contains much argumentative matter which are fallacious and erroneous and, in any case, out of place in a modern statute and should be omitted altogether;

(iv) it prohibits the levy of "tolls" but does not define the term; for the word "toll", the modern expression "tax on the sale of goods" should be used;

(v) "tolls" or "taxes on the sale of goods", as the case may be, must be carefully and clearly distinguished from rents, aided if necessary by illustrations and also by giving power to Government to make rules to deal with matters of detail or with individual cases;

(vi) if the distinction is not clearly and specifically provided for, confusion would result and evasion would be the consequence; taxes would be disguised and claimed as rent;

(vii) in the absence of clear demarcation the mere prohibition of "tolls", as in the clause, would be ineffective and would remain a pious wish;

(viii) the persons whom the clause would purport to protect are too poor to protect themselves and so a cheap and handy machinery should be set up for ready decision of disputes in cases of alleged exactions;

(ix) a penalty should be provided for breach of the Act and the rules as, in the absence of any such sanction, the provision would be violated with impunity.

Other clauses.

12. The following drafting improvements have also to be effected:—

(i) The expression "Calcutta area" in the definition clause and in other places is most unhappy. By its ordinary connotation and specially by the definition, "Calcutta" means and implies an "area". Its frequent repetition in the Bill, perhaps introduced to maintain a musical balance with the words "other areas", is grossly tautological and really jars in the ear. Instead of "Calcutta area" the simple but sufficiently expressive word "Calcutta" should be used.

(ii) Other amendments of a drafting nature should be effected in several places. Moreover, the Bill is over-punctuated in some places and under-punctuated in some other places and some uniformity should be effected in this direction. Some spelling reforms should also be effected.

13. I regret I could not attend to these drafting amendments as I was preoccupied with intricate and complicated matters in connection with clause 8A. But I hope to suggest necessary drafting amendments in the House.

Minute of dissent by Rai Sahib Jatindra Mohon Sen, M.L.C.

There should have been a provision restricting establishment of new hats, bazars or fairs in close proximity to existing hats, bazars and fairs.

In the definition of "Inspecting Officer", the Chairmen of District Boards should have been included.

Clause 22 of the Bill should have been omitted.

[NOTE.—All matters omitted by the Select Committee have been printed in italics and enclosed in square brackets, and all new matters inserted have been underlined.]

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Department of Public Health and Local Self-Government.

Public Health.

CALCUTTA, THE 17TH DECEMBER 1941.

RESOLUTION—No. 2034P.H.

Read the Reports of the Chief Engineer, Public Health Department and of the Sanitary Board, for the year 1940.

The Engineering Branch of the Public Health Department maintained its usual standard of efficient administration and there was a steady progress of public health engineering works in the Province during the year. Besides the permanent Executive staff of one Chief Engineer, three Executive Engineers, three Assistant Engineers and one Superintendent of waterworks, the department also maintained several temporary hands in the subordinate Engineering Establishment during the year under report in order to cope with the work.

2. The total capital expenditure on waterworks and sewerage works constructed or under construction during the year under review amounted to Rs. 2,33,943 and Rs. 1,17,961 respectively, as against Rs. 7,39,270 and Rs. 99,647, respectively, during the previous year.

The total estimated cost of the schemes prepared by the department during the year was Rs. 57,41,153 as detailed below, as against Rs. 43,01,006 during the previous year:—

	Rs.	Rs.
1. Sketch projects—
(a) Water-supply ...	30,31,870
(b) Drainage and sewerage ...	12,83,050
		43,14,920
2. Detailed projects—
(a) Water-supply ...	3,44,399
(b) Drainage and sewerage ...	8,29,290
		11,73,689
3. Miscellaneous ...		2,52,544
Total ...		57,41,153

Fourteen works of sanitary engineering were executed under the supervision and control of the department during the year under review. Besides, the department also continued to maintain the Baranagar-Kamarhati joint waterworks, the Kalimpong and the Maijdi waterworks as in the previous year.

3. There was a considerable decrease in the total amount of receipts of the department during the year under report, viz., Rs. 35,628 as against Rs. 54,220 in the previous year. The receipts, however, compared favourably with that of 1938.

4. During the year under review 52 municipal waterworks were in operation including the Kalimpong, Bagerhat, Munshiganj and Maijdi waterworks. The total number of persons served was 1,422,378 and the total quantity of filtered water supplied was 19,131,793 gallons. The quality of water supplied was on the whole very satisfactory.

5. Besides the necessary routine duties which are to be carried out by the department under the rules regulating the management of sewerage and waterworks, the departmental officers periodically inspected the various municipal waterworks and drainage works as usual. The reports of inspection were submitted to the Sanitary Board and forwarded to the local bodies concerned with necessary recommendations.

The department also rendered valuable assistance in the shape of advice and suggestions to other departments, local officers and local bodies in matters relating to works of sanitary engineering.

6. The staff of the rural water-supply subdivision were fully occupied throughout the year in the examination of the rural water-supply programmes of the districts. The comprehensive schemes of rural water-supply drawn up by the district committees were checked, scrutinised and revised, where necessary, by the staff of the subdivision and in some cases the staff had to practically draw up afresh the schemes according to the instructions of Government. During the year under review, schemes for 25 districts out of 26 were received of which schemes for 23 districts had been re-cast. The subdivision also examined the district schemes for the improvement of rural water-supply the cost of which was met from the Government of India grants and the Provincial grants. The staff of the subdivision further rendered their valuable assistance in matters relating to examination of sources of water-supply, different use of hand pumps for tube-wells, specifications and estimates for wells, methods of execution and maintenance of tube-wells.

7. During the year under review the Sanitary Board held only three meetings and considered seven sketch projects and eight detailed projects, all of which except the detailed project regarding the Tollygunge Protective Embankment were approved and recommended to Government for sanction subject to certain conditions in regard to particular cases. The Board also considered a few anti-malaria schemes. As usual the Board also scrutinised the inspection reports of the various officers of the Engineering Branch of the Public Health Department and the summarised statements of water-analysis reports.

The malaria sub-committee of the Board prepared draft of a Bengal Anti-Malaria Bill which was considered and approved by the Sanitary Board.

A nutrition sub-committee of the Board was established during the year for the purpose of providing a co-ordinating body for the several local agencies undertaking activities in nutrition.

8. Government record their appreciation of the valuable assistance given to them by the staff of the Engineering Branch of the Public Health Department and the members of the Sanitary Board during the year under review.
